

Capture PromptPerfect Refugees Before September 1st

A 6-week, step-by-step action plan to convert PromptPerfect's shutting-down user base into PromptMeGood customers — free tier and paid — before their data vanishes on October 1st.

~6 wks

WINDOW LEFT

Sept 1

PP GOES OFFLINE

Oct 1

PP DATA DELETED

500

FOUNDING SLOTS

YOUR MIGRATION LANDING PAGE — SEND EVERYONE HERE

<https://www.promptmegood.com/promptperfect.html>

STEP 0 · Know Your Offer Cold — Say It In One Breath

Before you post anywhere, internalize this. Every message you write opens one of these three doors:

The Three Doors You're Handing People

FREE FOREVER

$0

No account, no card. Daily caps but real features. Prompt Builder + Photography Suite. Start immediately — zero friction.

FOUNDING MEMBER □

$79 one-time

First 500 only. Price locked for life. 15 AI runs/day, Image Workshop, Expert Command Center. Never rises.

PRO MONTHLY

$14/mo

25 AI runs/day, cancel anytime. Pro Studio $29/mo. Annual options save ~20%. Standard recurring access.

✂ The Founding Member urgency stack — use all three in your copy every time

1. First 500 buyers only — gone when the slot fills. | 2. One-time price, never a subscription. | 3. Independent product — no VC, no pivot risk, no surprise shutdown (unlike PP).

STEP 1 · Your One Core Message — Use Everywhere

Keep this tight. Adapt the framing, not the substance.

FULL VERSION — FOR REDDIT POSTS, BLOG POSTS, LINKEDIN

PromptPerfect is shutting down September 1st and deleting all user data October 1st. PromptMeGood has a free migration path — no account needed to start. Founding Member access is $79 one-time (first 500 only, price locked for life). Built by one person, not a VC-funded startup that pivots. Landing page:

<https://www.promptmegood.com/promptperfect.html>

SHORT VERSION — FOR REPLIES, DMS, TWEETS

PromptPerfect shutting down? I moved to PromptMeGood — free to start, one-time $79 lifetime deal for power features. No account required. promptmegood.com/promptperfect

STABILITY ANGLE — FOR SKEPTICS BURNED BY SHUTDOWNS BEFORE

It's one person building this, not a VC-funded startup. No Series A = no "pivot to enterprise" six months from now. The $79 Founding Member price is locked — it doesn't go up. That's the pitch.

STEP 2 · Where To Show Up — Prioritized by ROI

CHANNEL	PRIORITY	WHY IT WORKS	TIME/WK
Reddit — Targeted Subreddits	HIGHEST	PP users are actively venting and asking "what now?" right now. One good post = hundreds of clicks for weeks.	3-4 hrs
YouTube Comments	HIGH	PromptPerfect tutorial videos have warm audiences in research mode, actively Googling alternatives this month.	1-2 hrs
Twitter/X — AI community	HIGH	Prompt engineering crowd is very active. One viral thread = thousands of impressions for free.	2 hrs
Indie Hackers + Hacker News	MEDIUM	Builders and early adopters. Best channel for Founding Member sales. "Show HN" gives developer credibility.	1 hr
Facebook AI Groups	MEDIUM	Non-technical users who discovered PP through YouTube. Good for free-tier volume conversion.	1 hr
LinkedIn	MEDIUM	Business/professional users who relied on PP for work. Higher willingness to pay for Founding.	30 min
Product Hunt	TIMED	Only launch if you can get 50+ upvotes in hour one. Plan for a Monday-Tuesday morning with supporters ready.	Half day

STEP 3 · Reddit — Your Highest-Impact Channel

Subreddits to target (in priority order)

- r/ChatGPT — 5M+ members. Post: "PromptPerfect alternatives?" or a migration story.
reddit.com/r/ChatGPT
- r/PromptEngineering — core audience, very receptive to tool comparisons.
reddit.com/r/PromptEngineering
- r/artificial — general AI news; PP shutdown is genuinely newsworthy here
- r/AIAssistants — product-comparison mindset, perfect positioning for PMG
- r/OpenAI — mention PMG in existing threads about prompting tools
- r/productivity — frame PMG as a productivity tool, not just an AI toy
- r/MachineLearning — technical credibility posts perform well here

📌 Reddit Rule #1: Story-sell, don't link-drop

Lead with the shutdown news (genuinely useful information), share your migration experience, and let the URL appear naturally at the end. Authenticity converts 10× better than ad copy. Obvious promotion gets removed by mods instantly.

POST TITLE — PICK ONE (TEST BOTH ACROSS DIFFERENT SUBS)

"PromptPerfect is shutting down Sept 1 — what are you all migrating to?" | "I tested 5 PromptPerfect alternatives so you don't have to" | "PSA: PromptPerfect deletes your data Oct 1 — here's how to export and where to go"

POST BODY — ADAPT, DON'T PASTE VERBATIM

Got the PromptPerfect email. Sept 1 shutdown, Oct 1 data deletion. Spent a week testing alternatives and landed on PromptMeGood (link in comments). It has a free tier with no account required — daily caps but solid for regular use — and a Photography Suite for image prompts which is huge for Midjourney/DALL·E users. There's also a one-time $79 Founding Member tier, no subscription, price locked, built by one person so no VC pivot risk. Happy to compare features if anyone wants specifics. What are others moving to?

Comment strategy: After posting, spend 20 min replying to every comment — Reddit's algorithm rewards first-hour engagement. Reply to OTHER posts mentioning PromptPerfect too. A helpful reply in someone else's thread converts their readers to your page.

STEP 4 · YouTube Comments — Warm Traffic, Zero Ad Spend

How to find the videos

- Search YouTube: "PromptPerfect tutorial", "PromptPerfect review", "PromptPerfect alternatives"
- Sort by View Count — prioritize videos with 10k+ views and active comment sections
- Check: recent comments rank higher in threads, giving you more visibility

COMMENT TEMPLATE — REWRITE EACH TIME SO IT READS NATURALLY

Since PromptPerfect is shutting down Sept 1 (they sent the email this month), I've been using PromptMeGood as a replacement — promptmegood.com/promptperfect. Free to start with no account, has a Photography Suite for image prompts which I hadn't seen elsewhere, and a one-time lifetime plan for $79 which is worth it if you use this stuff regularly. Putting it here for anyone coming back to this video looking for options.

Don't do all comments in one day. Spread them across 2–3 weeks. YouTube flags sudden bursts from accounts as spam. 3–5 quality comments per day is safer and more effective than 50 in a single session.

STEP 5 · Twitter/X — Write a Thread, Then Reply Daily

THREAD STRUCTURE (6-8 TWEETS) — POST MONDAY MORNING WEEK 1

Tweet 1 (Hook): "PromptPerfect is shutting down Sept 1. Your prompts get deleted Oct 1. Here's what I found testing 4 alternatives 🧵"

Tweet 2: What PP users are losing — prompt history, saved workflows, image prompt library

Tweet 3: PromptMeGood overview — what it does, why the free tier is genuinely usable

Tweet 4: The Photography Suite — this differentiates PMG from generic prompt tools

Tweet 5: The Founding Member offer — why one-time pricing matters vs. subscriptions

Tweet 6: Direct link + CTA — "Start free, no account: promptmegood.com/promptperfect"

Tweet 7 (optional): "Built by one person, not a funded startup. Here's why that matters for long-term reliability"

After posting the thread: Search "PromptPerfect" on X every morning. Reply to anyone venting about the shutdown, asking for alternatives, or discussing prompt tools. Keep replies helpful — never paste your URL as the opening word.

STEP 6 · Hacker News + Indie Hackers

Hacker News (news.ycombinator.com)

- Post title: "Show HN: PromptMeGood — prompt builder for PromptPerfect refugees"
- Post between 9-11am ET on a Tuesday or Wednesday — highest HN traffic window
- The first hour is everything. Have 3-5 people ready to upvote and leave early comments immediately after you post
- Reply to every HN comment within the first 2 hours — active threads rank higher
- HN culture: write as a founder explaining what you built and why. No superlatives. No "amazing" or "revolutionary." State what it does plainly

Indie Hackers (indiehackers.com)

- Post a milestones update: "How I'm targeting PromptPerfect's shutdown as an acquisition channel"
- The IH community responds extremely well to honest, transparent founder stories
- Join the "AI Tools" and "SaaS" groups and contribute a few comments before you post your own link

STEP 7 · LinkedIn — Post Text-Only, Link in First Comment

LINKEDIN POST — PASTE THIS, THEN IMMEDIATELY COMMENT WITH THE URL

PromptPerfect, the AI prompt tool used by thousands of content creators and marketing teams, is shutting down September 1st. Their users lose all their data October 1st. This happens more than people realize in the AI tools space — funded startups pivot to enterprise or get acqui-hired, and users lose everything with little notice. I built PromptMeGood specifically to avoid that dynamic: one-time pricing option, no VC, no pivot risk. The $79 Founding Member price is locked for life. If you use prompt tools for work and want something that won't disappear, the free tier requires no account. Link in comments.

LinkedIn algorithm note: LinkedIn suppresses posts with external links in the body. Post the text above, then immediately add the first comment with: <https://www.promptmegood.com/promptperfect.html> — this gives you organic reach before the link limits it.

STEP 8 · Your 6-Week Action Calendar

One focused hour per day. The first two weeks matter most — don't save your energy for later.

WEEK 1 JUL 21-27

Plant the flags everywhere

Post to r/ChatGPT (highest reach). Post the X/Twitter thread Monday morning. Post LinkedIn (text only, URL in first comment). Leave first 5 YouTube comments across different PP tutorial videos. Set up Google Alerts: "PromptPerfect shutdown", "PromptPerfect alternative".

WEEK 2 JUL 28-AUG 3

r/PromptEngineering + Show HN

Post a second Reddit thread in r/PromptEngineering (different angle — feature comparison). Reply to all Week 1 comments. Post Show HN on Tuesday 9-10am ET. Search "PromptPerfect" on X daily and reply to 3-5 conversations. Leave 5 more YouTube comments.

WEEK 3 AUG 4-10

Facebook Groups + Indie Hackers

Join and post in: "ChatGPT Users", "AI Tools & Automation", "Midjourney AI Art" Facebook groups. Post the milestone story on Indie Hackers. Continue YouTube comments (5-7 more videos). Post to r/artificial and r/AIAssistants. Send personal notes to anyone in your network who uses AI tools.

WEEK 4
AUG 11-17

Double down on what worked

Check which channels drove the most signups (Supabase dashboard, Stripe payments). Repeat the winning format in new communities. Post a second X thread with a fresh angle ("here's what I had to rebuild from scratch after PromptPerfect announced"). Post to r/productivity.

WEEK 5
AUG 18-24

Final push — urgency ramp

10 days until shutdown. Every post and comment must mention the Sept 1 deadline explicitly. Post "last chance" reminders in every community you've already been active in. Email anyone who signed up free but hasn't purchased yet about the Founding Member offer.

WEEK 6
AUG 25-SEPT 1

Deadline day — capture the scramble

Post "PromptPerfect is now offline — migration link" the day PP goes dark. This will get organic shares as people scramble. Monitor all channels for "what do I do now" comments. After Sept 1, shift message to: "PromptPerfect is gone — your prompts have a home here."

STEP 9 · Copy Templates — Save These, Edit Before Every Post

FACEBOOK GROUP POST (CHATGPT USERS, AI TOOLS, MIDJOURNEY GROUPS)

Quick heads up for anyone using PromptPerfect: they sent an email this month confirming they're shutting down September 1st and deleting all user data October 1st. I've been migrating to PromptMeGood (promptmegood.com/promptperfect) — it's free to try with no account needed, has a really solid Photography Suite for image prompts which works well for Midjourney users, and there's a one-time lifetime option for $79 if you want unlimited-ish access. Thought people here would want to know before the deadline.

PERSONAL DM — FOR PEOPLE YOU KNOW WHO WORK WITH AI

Hey — random but did you see PromptPerfect is shutting down Sept 1? I've been testing alternatives and landed on PromptMeGood, which has a free tier and a one-time $79 deal. Figured I'd send you the link before the deadline: promptmegood.com/promptperfect

EMAIL TO YOUR OWN LIST

Subject: PromptPerfect is gone Sept 1 — thought you'd want to know

Quick note: PromptPerfect sent shutdown emails this month. Service goes offline September 1, data deleted October 1. If you use them or know someone who does, I've been running PromptMeGood as an alternative — free to start, no account needed, with a one-time Founding Member option ($79, first 500 only) that locks in lifetime access. Migration page: <https://www.promptmegood.com/promptperfect.html>

STEP 10 · Before-You-Post Checklist — Do These Today

- ☐ Visit promptmegood.com/promptperfect.html as a first-time user — does the import flow make sense?
- ☐ Test the "Start Free" button — confirm it opens /app and works without an account
- ☐ Test the Founding Member button — confirm it lands on /pricing.html and the checkout works
- ☐ Create a Reddit account if you don't have a recent one — accounts need karma before posts stick
- ☐ Set up Google Alerts: "PromptPerfect", "PromptPerfect shutdown", "PromptPerfect alternative"
- ☐ Search YouTube for "PromptPerfect" and bookmark the top 10 videos with active comments
- ☐ Draft your Reddit post in a Google Doc first (so you're not writing under pressure)
- ☐ Draft your Twitter thread in Typefully (free) — lets you schedule and see thread preview
- ☐ Join 3-5 relevant Facebook groups today (some have 24-hr approval delays)
- ☐ Tell 5 people you know personally who work with AI — word of mouth is still your fastest path
- ☐ Add ?ref=reddit, ?ref=hn, ?ref=twitter to your links so you can see which channel converts

STEP 11 · Six Mistakes That Kill Early Traction

❌ AVOID THIS

Spamming the same link across 20 subreddits in one day

Reddit's filter will shadowban your account. You'll think posts are live but nobody sees them. One post per community, one week apart minimum.

❌ AVOID THIS

Using superlatives in copy ("best", "amazing", "revolutionary")

Readers distrust marketing language instantly. Say what it does specifically. "15 AI runs/day on GPT-4.1" beats "unlimited power" every time.

❌ AVOID THIS

❌ AVOID THIS

Waiting to post until everything feels perfect

The 6-week window is finite. A good post today beats a perfect post in two weeks when half the PP audience has already moved on.

Ignoring comments on your posts after posting

Reddit and HN reward threads where the poster is actively engaged. Even short replies bump your post in the algorithm. Check twice daily in Week 1.

❌ AVOID THIS

Leading with the paid offer before they've tried free

The free tier is your best acquisition tool. Lead with "no account required, try it right now." Paid conversion happens naturally after people use the product.

❌ AVOID THIS

Launching on Product Hunt without 50+ supporters lined up

Product Hunt requires 50+ upvotes in the first 2 hours or you fall off the front page. Only launch PH if you have a community ready to support immediately.

STEP 12 · How To Know If It's Working

METRIC	WHERE TO CHECK	WHAT GOOD LOOKS LIKE (WEEK 2+)
New free users/day	Supabase dashboard → Auth → Users	5+ per day from organic posts
Founding Member purchases	Stripe dashboard → Payments	1-2 per week from Reddit/HN
Landing page traffic	Clarity / analytics if set up	100+ unique visitors/day by Week 3
Reddit post upvotes	Your Reddit profile → Posts	50+ upvotes = solid. 200+ = front page of sub
HN points in first hour	Watch your HN post live	20+ in hour one = front page placement

Simple tracking: Add ?ref=reddit, ?ref=hn, ?ref=twitter to every link you share. After 2 weeks you'll know exactly which channel drives real signups. Double down on the winner, drop the losers.